

1. Due to a technical error, Gold cards were written as Silver cards and vice-versa. Change the type of card in the data correctly and its relevant information (card limit)
2. Considering the amounts given in the data were in USD, calculate the transaction amount in INR
3. Find the remaining survival time for all the cards from today
4. Find the transaction date and calculate how old the transaction is compared to 31st March 2013.
5. Find out the customer data for all the transactions. Also find the details about the cards for all the transactions in the same dataset.
6. Find the number of customers with age > 30 and year of card activation = 2009
7. The client wants to know the gender of customer by looking at the customer id. Try concatenating the concerned variables to create a new identification value.
8. In the new variable created, change the first 3 characters to 987